

Angie Wickersham

Vice President of Assisted Livings

About Me:

I came to GJ to go to Mesa State. By the time I was ready to graduate with my counseling degree I KNEW I wasn't going to do therapy. My first job out of college was in child welfare....I did work at Hilltop my Senior year at Miranda Place (a girls youth residential program.) While I worked for the County, I earned my masters degree in social work with an emphasis on community practice. I was "sure" I would do child welfare my whole career but quickly transitioned to coordinating a community collaborative for methamphetamine prevention, treatment, and intervention, which I "never saw coming". A few years later, I returned to Hilltop in community programs working with FAP and SB94. In 2011 I joined the Life Adjustment Program where I was until 2023 when I began supporting the senior and assisted living side of our business.

To my core, I believe that everything I've experienced and done was exactly how it "was supposed to be"....even when it didn't make sense or was really hard. I want to help folks see and achieve their potential.

Why I Mentor:

Oftentimes when I am "in the forest" of life and I can't see the next best step to take, it's a mentor who has helped me see the broader picture and ask the right questions that allow me to know what I want to do next. That's why I love coaching and mentoring - helping people see what THEY want to do next by simply asking questions.

Fun Facts

I didn't know the sun shined in December until I moved to GJ as a college freshman - haha; I grew up in northwest Montana where it's overcast and gloomy from about October to April. I will NEVER live in that climate again!

Hobbies and Interests

In the midst of raising two teenagers with my hubby the easiest hobby/interest is watching them do what they love - the sports they play & the instruments she loves. When I'm not doing that, I love to read and collect plants.
