

Tracy Louis-Marie

Director - Philanthropy

About Me:

I have spent half my life abroad, raised a bilingual English-French family and built a life shaped by art, adventure, and service.

My Peace Corps experience in West Africa led to a career in public health and nonprofits and strengthened my belief that we all have a responsibility to make the world better.

I am drawn to change and the unknown, always believing something wonderful is around the corner—and it usually is.

Hobbies and Interests

I see beauty everywhere. I am a collector and I like to make things from found objects, or mend and repurpose items with character.

Since moving to the Western Slope I have become enthralled with the history of the West, mining towns and heroic pioneers.

I love being outdoors, camping and I am waiting for the day when I stumble upon a 100 year old cowboy camp.

Fun Facts

I just got my hunting license and I am learning how to hunt.

Why I Mentor:

I am transparent about my successes and failures. This self awareness from 40 years of professional work and personal experience has earned me some hard won wisdom.

I have two children in their mid twenties and they often tell me how much they appreciate my insight and curiosity. I really enjoy problem solving too.
